PROGRAM NAME: DATABASE AND WEBSITE DEVELOPER.

The work that database & website developer volunteers do at our organization includes website developing and editing, creating newsletters and managing the computer database. Database & website development volunteers are asked to develop and implement an electronic library for primary and secondary schools to use in the Maasai areas. The database & website developer volunteers are asked to create an electronic school study system.

They shall create a cord which allows the Maasai people to access books in the computer. This method would help the students and teachers in the schools, as well as the people in the communities that are unable to afford a library in their area.

The database & website developer volunteers work with local staff who provide the current information to develop and edit their website. Other tasks include networking and any other IT work that the organization requires.

Volunteers with lots of enthusiasm and creativity, with IT expertise and experience, as well as people who enjoy working with individuals from different cultures would find this placement to be a truly fantastic and enriching experience.
